

Assist. Prof. Dr. Sunčana Roksandić Vidlička (MB: 301401, Google scholar citation: 230) teaches criminal law, economic criminal law, transitional justice, EU substantive criminal law and the protection of victims (Jean Monnet Module co-Leader) and bioethics and human rights (UNESCO Model Course) as part of her position as assistant professor at the Department of criminal law (http://www.pravo.unizg.hr/suncana.roksandic_vidlicka.). She teaches medical ethics at the Medical School, University of Zagreb. She obtained her PhD in 2015 (Zagreb) and 2016 (Freiburg) as a doctorate scholarship holder and doctoral candidate of the Criminology Department at Max Planck Institute of Foreign and International Criminal Law (summa cum laude). Her book, based on her doctoral research under the title Prosecuting serious economic crimes as international crimes, a new mandate for the ICC? was published in 2017 by Duncker&Humblot, Berlin: http://www.mpicc.de/de/forschung/publikationen/balkan_criminology_series/bc2.html#i23230. She obtained her Master of Science Degree in Company and Commercial Law at the Faculty of law, University of Zagreb (2011) and graduated at the same Faculty of Law (2000). After graduation, she worked seven years in legal practice, first as he legal trainee in the law firm Bogdanović, Dolički & Partneri later as legal adviser to Croatian Medical Chamber. She passed the Croatian bar exam. For her work in Croatian Medical Chamber, she has received special recognition - an award for the contribution to the development of the Croatian Medical Chamber (2005). She is the Head of the Croatian Unit for the International Network of the UNESCO Chair in Bioethics. She is a member of the Max Planck Partner Group for Balkan Criminology. She is the head of Jean Monnet Project Advanced Seminar in EU Criminal Law and Policy (2016-2019) and (co)founder and (co)director of the course under the same name that is held every year at the Interuniversity Center Dubrovnik: <http://euclp-sem.eu/>. She is external member of the Otto Hahn Group of the Max Planck Society: Architecture of the Security System (ArchiS). Sunčana Roksandić Vidlička acts as an expert in national and international projects and as a national expert in the implementation of EU directives. She is one of the model course developers of UNESCO (E4J) in the area of peace, corruption and security and in 2018 she received Education for Justice (E4J) Champion; University Module for teaching Integrity and Ethics. She was a member of Working Groups of Ministry of Justice drafting Law on Protection of People with Mental Disabilities (full member) and Criminal Code (external member) and president of the Working group of Ministry of health on unifying provisions of informed consent. She is a member of the National group on the evaluation of the risk of anti-money laundering and financing of terrorism. In 2017 she was a (co-) rapporteur for AIDP on the topic individual criminal responsibility of businessman for international crimes. She is a Member of the National Risk Assessment Group on the Risk of Money Laundering and Financing of Terrorism in Croatia, Government of Republic of Croatia (2018-2019, 2013-2014). She was an invited guest professor at Lomonosov University, Faculty of Law in October 2017 (Moscow, Russia). In 2016 (April) she was lecturing in Shanghai, China. In 2011 she received the Annual Award for the best young scientist in social sciences by the Society of University Professors and other Scientists of the University of Zagreb. In 2015, she was selected for the USA International Visitor Leadership Program "Women Countering Violent Extremism." She has published, besides Croatian, in English, Croatian and German, primarily in the areas that interlink the protection of internationally recognized human rights with (international) criminal law. The list of her publications is available online: <http://bib.irb.hr/lista-radova?autor=301401>. She participated as a keynote and invited participant in many national, regional and international conferences and workshops and (co)organised the same (e.g. World Congress in Medical Law (2010, 400 participants), ISIS and countering violent extremism (2015, 50 participants). She is a member of the Executive Board of Croatian Association for Criminal Law Sciences and Practice and is part of Editorial Board of Zagrebačka Pravna Revija. Besides, she is a member of international) criminal law and criminology associations, European Consortium for Political Research (ECPR), Association of University Professors and Scientists in Zagreb and external member of the Academy of Legal Science in Croatia. She was a founder of the Group of Protection of Patients' rights at the Legal Clinic of the Faculty of law and serves as an academic mentor. She is a member of the Committee on enhancing the excellence of the students at the Faculty of law, University of Zagreb.